

Countdown to statutory RSE

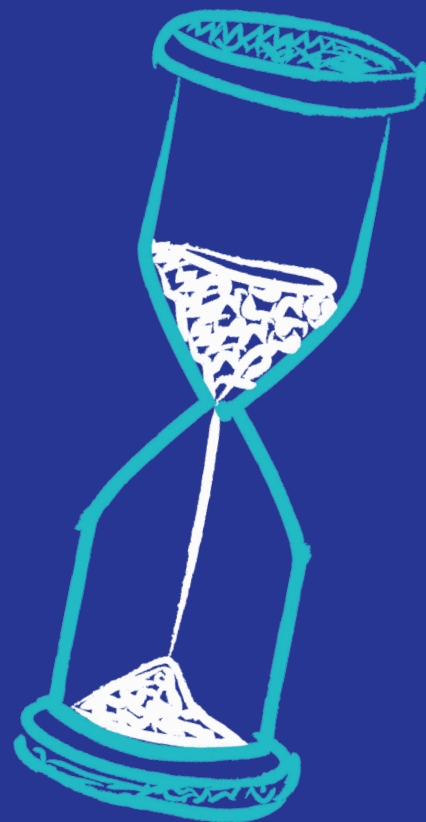

Conference for Independent Schools

Relationships & Sex Education is changing.

We're here to help Independent Schools get ahead of the curve, through quality RSE that's aligned with your school values and meets the needs of your pupils.

Wednesday 27 March 2019

Kingston Grammar School, London

Tailored to your Independent School

From September 2020, all independent schools will be required to teach Relationships and Sex Education that is compliant with new Government guidance.

We're counting down to the start of statutory RSE by helping schools understand how the new guidance will affect you:

- Improving the quality of your teaching and learning.
- Exploring options for integrating your pastoral care and curriculum delivery.
- Understanding the impact of RSE on pupil wellbeing and attainment.
- Sharing what best practice schools are doing.
- Connecting you with resources and support.

This conference has been tailored to meet the needs of independent schools including prep, senior, day, boarding, mixed and single-sex schools.

Who should attend?

- Teaching staff
- Heads of PSHE, DSLs
- Deputy Heads
- House Masters/Mistresses
- Tutors, Pastoral/Support staff,
- Student ambassadors (6th Form)

What should I expect?

- Keynotes from experts including Sir Anthony Seldon, Lucy Emmerson, Dr Margot Waddell and Professor Jessica Ringrose.
- Choice of practical workshops on themes including: assessment, curriculum planning, LGBT+ inclusion, parental engagement, faith and RSE, integrating pastoral care and laying foundations in prep schools.
- Inspiring and challenging contributions from staff and pupils from Independent Schools putting quality RSE into practice.
