

Countdown to Statutory RSE North East

The Sex Education Forum is delighted to bring our RSE conference to the North East, in association with Newcastle City Council.

RSE in schools is changing. We're counting down to the start of statutory RSE by guiding teachers through the new legislation, advising on curriculum design and helping you choose the best resources.

Thursday 26 March 2020

Newcastle City Council, Civic Centre

We're counting down to the start of statutory Relationships Education, RSE and Health Education by helping schools understand how the new guidance will affect you, including:

- Expert keynotes from DfE, Ofsted and Public Health England
- Hand-picked examples of good practice
- A choice of tailored workshops addressing consent, assessment, SEND inclusion, parental engagement and more
- The best resources and exhibitors

Who should attend?

- Primary and secondary teachers leading or those teaching PSHE/RSE
- Head teachers and deputies
- Pastoral staff
- Youth workers
- School nurses
- Local authority RSE leads

What should I expect?

Expert contributors include:

- Roary Pownall HMI, National Lead for PSHE, Ofsted
- Jade Gilks, Team Leader on Relationships & Sex Education and Health Education Policy, Department for Education
- Claire Robson, Public Health Delivery Manager, Public Health England
- Alice Hoyle, RSE teacher and author of Great RSE
- Lisa Davis, Director, Changing Relations
- Lucy Emmerson, Director of the Sex Education Forum
- Dr Eleanor Draeger, Senior RSE Trainer, Sex Education Forum
- Rachael Baker, RSE specialist, Sex Education Forum

Choose 3 x high quality, practical workshops from a wide selection, delivered by experts in the field.
